Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened,
and I will give you rest.

— Matthew 11:28

Dear Parishioners,

This Sunday let us welcome with gladness and joy the presence of Rev. Father Alfred Burke. He is going to be our regular weekend assistant in St. Catherine's. Fr. Al, as he prefers to be called, is a retired priest from the Archdiocese of Newark, New Jersey. For him, as he has been coming and saying the Mass, our parish community is a warm welcoming parish. For more information about Fr. Al, please see page three of this Bulletin.

This Sunday's Gospel reading contains one of the most comforting and encouraging invitations Jesus ever issued. However, it is an invitation that is too often overlooked and taken for granted by his too busy and preoccupied followers today. Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest. Furthermore, our Lord uses an unusual parable to complete the invitation: Take my yoke upon you and you will find rest for yourselves. For my yoke is easy, and my burden light. A yoke by the way, is a double harness made of wood that is custom-made and placed on the necks of a pair of oxen to enable them to pull a plow together. Jesus was known throughout Galilee as the carpenter's son. The young Jesus learned a few things about woodworking from his foster father Joseph in the shop in Nazareth. A smooth fitting yoke to place on the shoulders of a pair of oxen is something Jesus could probably speak about from experience.

Therefore, when Jesus says we should take his yoke upon us and learn from him, he is offering to share our burdens with us the way draft animals support one another by pulling together. And with Jesus helping us, our burden is lighter and the yokes made by him are a perfect fit to make our travel together through life easier.

He has already come to us, through his birth, his teachings and miracles, his death and resurrection and ascension, through grace and the sacraments as well. He has come as far as possible. Coming to him implies we have to move closer, we have more to learn from him. We have to take time to pray, to read and reflect on the Scriptures, to forgive those who have hurt us, to be kind to others and other things we've been taught about living a life of holiness. We should not expect that Jesus is going to make us rich and take all our problems away. He did promise a cross to follow him. However, life is a lot easier when we have Jesus as part of our day to day lives. My yoke is easy and my burden light. Come to me all you who labor and are burdened. Amen.

May God bless us,
Father Angelito
